Environmental history: source studies and historiography problems

Dear colleagues!

Russian State University for Humanities invites to take part in XXXII annual international scientific conference "Environmental history: source studies and historiography problems", which will be held on April 25-26, 2018.

In order to timely form the program of the conference, we ask you, before March 20, 2018, to send to the Organizing Committee the topic of your report/paper, information about the author (full name, academic degree and rank, place of work and position, postal address and telephone number, e-mail address for correspondence).

Main topics of interest are:

- Environmental history as an interdisciplinary project.
- Environmental history and its historians.
- Information resources and methods of Environmental history.
- To the 100th anniversary of the State Archival Service in Russia: an environmental historian in the archives.
- Historiography of the Environmental history. Results and prospects of research practices.

Based on the results of the conference, organizers plan to publish its proceedings (3-4 thousands words for each paper), and later a collective monograph. Authors who would like to publish their papers in the proceedings and (or) in the monograph, are expected to take a part in the conference personally.

Recommendations for the design of papers for publishing in the proceedings of the RSUH will be sent after confirmation of participation in the conference.
